The One Glass for Wine

Gabriel-Glas "One for All" wine glass is lead-free crystal and available in two grades—StandArt Edition and the Gold Edition. The two glasses are hard to tell apart at first glance. The top mouth of both measures 66 millimeters and the base of the bowl 95 millimeters. It is designed, per the media kit, to provide "maximum olfactory sensation" and "deliver any wine to the palate in a manner that expresses even the subtlest flavors, no matter the variety."

Both feel perfectly balanced in the hand. The StandArt Edition feels weightier and has a more substantial bowl and stem than the Gold Edition. Just for fun I weighed both (along with a Zalto Universal and Riedel) on our kitchen scale. The scale verified our impression — the Gabriel-Glas "One for All" Gold Edition wine glass is lighter than the Zalto Universal, which is lighter than the Gabriel-Glas "One for All" StandArt Edition, which is lighter than the Riedel.
