

D

Let's Make Dallas Even Better

WINE

What to Drink Now: Easter Whites

Wines that signal that it's time for spring.

BY HAYLEY HAMILTON COGILL | PUBLISHED IN FOOD & DRINK | MARCH 29, 2018 | 10:20 AM

Easter weekend has arrived, meaning that spring is in full bloom, white shoes are allowed to be worn, and white wine should be poured at every gathering. Here are a few to toast the start of the season. Spring sings with Sauvignon Blanc, produced across the globe from Loire or Bordeaux, Alto Adige to Casablanca, Napa Valley to Marlborough.

RITUAL

Ritual Sauvignon Blanc ($20 at Spec's) from Chile's Casablanca region, not far from the Pacific, reveals an aromatic wine filled with soft herbs, white peach, and lemon peel with texture thanks to the careful integration of wine fermented in neutral oak, stainless steel, and concrete eggs.

CHARLES COMMUNICATIONS
ASSOCIATES, LLC